And Free Coinage.

St. Louis is to experiment with the pneumatic tube system of mail delivery.

The Senate confirmed the nomination of Oakes Murphy as governor of Arizona by an unanimous vote last Tuesday. The appointment of Gov. Murphy meets with general approval.

A terrible explosion occurred a few days ago in one of the big coal mines near Rawlins, Wyoming, causing the death of forty men. The bodies have not yet been recovered.

Mrs. L. C. Hughes, wife of the editor of the Star, has designed a beautiful badge for the members of the Arizona Press Association. The MINER acknowledges the receipt of one of these handsome badges.

The New Mexico democratic convention showed its good sense in electing straightout silver men to the Chicago convention. Their action conveys the impression that the Albuquerque Democrat has not much of a pull in that territory.

There will be nine hundred delegates in the national democratic convention. Of this number two hundred and eighty are pledged to Cleveland and nearly the same number to Hill. The scattering vote will be from the West and South and will be cast almost solidly against Cleveland.

It now looks as though no nominations would be made by the democratic convention for delegate to congress nor councilman-at-large. It will probably be put off until after the adjournment of congress so that Mark Smith can get home and patch up the broken places in his political fence.

Hon. Foster S. Dennis is the only avowed silver man whose name is mentioned in connection with the delegateship from this territory. He is a man in whom the utmost confidence can be placed and one who can carry the party over the gulf that threatens it in the nomination of an anti-silver man.

Yuma county will soon be the garden spot of America. Nearly all tropical fruits can be raised there and that, too, in abundance. Dates, figs, lemons, oranges, pineapples, bananas and pomegranates grow luxuriantly. Mohave will soon follow in the wake of Yuma with a great variety of fruits and cereals.

The Tucson Citizen accuses the democratic party of being overwhelmingly in favor of free coinage. We shall have to plead guilty to the charge for our end of the party, and take great pleasure in making the fact known to our readers. The party in Arizona will show their appreciation of free coinage by electing a silver man as delegate to congress this fall.

The Gazette is muchly mistaken in its allusion to the MINER as "Foster Dennis' paper." This paper is in no wise ruled nor dictated to by Mr. Dennis. Our criticism of Mark Smith was called forth by that gentleman's attitude on silver in the house and was simply the only thing the gentleman could expect from a section where the people's every interest is tied up in their silver mines. Mr. Dennis is an ardent admirer of Mark Smith, contrary to the impression sought to be conveyed by the papers of the southern counties. But the fact remains, nevertheless, that our present delegate cannot carry the mining vote should he again come before them for re-election.

Strawberries are a drug in the Phenix market at eight cents a quart.

Paris, France, has more trees in its streets than any other city in the world.

Jay Gould has purchased the White Oaks road and will complete it on to El Paso.

The eastern gold bug papers are pitching into Senator Hill for his vote on the funding bill.

There are now five candidates mentioned for Sheriff on the republican side of the house.

The next session of the Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias, of Arizona, will be held in Globe.

Northern Arizona democrats favor Mr. Oliver, of Yavapai as delegate to the Chicago convention.

The Bland bill will again be brought up in the house the last of this month and placed on its final passage.

New Mexico papers are poking fun at the Democrat since its inglorious defeat by the democratic convention.

There are a hundred men in Arizona capable of representing us in Congress. Why mortgage the party to one man?

Deeming, the Rainhill murderer, has at last confessed to the murder of his wife. His execution takes place this month.

Tombstone Prospector wants all the transient voters placed on the great register that they may be favored with a free delivery system.

Poor old Anti-silver Harrison will find his boom floating so high that it will be impossible to land it at the Minneapolis pavilion next month.

When in Flagstaff recently J. N. Cohenour, of Peach Springs, informed the Coconino Sun that he was a candidate for Sheriff of Mohave county.

The Flagstaff Democrat has shuffled off the first snake story of the season. The chain lightning qualities of Flagstaff whisky accounts for its early appearance.

The Arizona Railroad Commissioners will meet in Kingman next month for the purpose of hearing complaints against the railroads on account of exorbitant charges.

It is said that a pound of cork will keep an ordinary man afloat. To keep Grover afloat until after the democratic national convention meets will require his weight in cork.

Senator Coke, in a recent speech in the Senate, showed Cleveland up in his true light on the money question. It is well worth reading and we give it in full in another column.

The fact that Governor Irwin favored a gold clause in the funding bill is no reason that it should become a law in that shape. "Lawful money" is most suited to the wants of this great nation and should be upheld in every sense.

The other day we were shown a piece of polished onyx from the Big Bug mines in Yavapai county, the markings of which formed a perfect fish. It looked as though the fish had caught a reflection of the sun on its body making it radiantly beautiful.

The largest landowner in the San Joaquin valley, California, is Henry Miller, who has under his individual control more than 1,000,000 acres. In 1850 Miller was a butcher boy without a cent in the world. He is said to be now worth between $30,000,000 and $40,000,000.

The Phenix Gazette, a semi-democratic journal, published on the head waters of the Saline river, of which we hear so much about election time, jumps on us because we asserted that Mark Smith showed an unfriendly spirit toward silver by his action on the Arizona funding bill. The Democracy of the MINER is of a much higher and purer quality than that of the Gazette. It does not damn its party leaders with faint praise, but criticizes their acts should they turn aside from the path of duty. Mark Smith has gone astray and we consider it our plain duty to point out the fact to the great party that placed him in his present honorable position. We do not doubt his ability, but do doubt his sincerity on the question of free silver. A four column speech will not rectify his mistake in voting as he did on the funding bill. Throw over our silver interest and Arizona will become a void in this great bustling land.

South Carolina sends a solid delegation for Hill to Chicago. It also favors the free coinage of silver.

The Democrats of Arizona will have to put up a man who is an avowed advocate of silver to win this fall.

Cleveland is fast falling into disrepute from the fact that it is a settled fact that he cannot carry the state of New York.

Mohave county should have a World's Fair representative, to which fact we would call the attention of Gov. Murphy.

Yavapai county Democrats have instructed their delegates in favor of free silver. This shows the sound sense of Yavapai citizens.

The Fort Worth Gazette says that Jay Gould has gained thirty pounds in weight and has added a railroad or two to his collection since his advent in Texas.

The Western Republicans are instructing their delegate for a silver man and a sound silver plank in the platform. The Democrats of the West and South are doing likewise.

Runs high at H. H. Watkins' drug store over System Builder, as everybody is using it for catarrh of the stomach, dyspepsia, constipation and impure blood, and to build up the system it certainly possesses wonderful merit when all speak so well of it.
